Some Things Don't Change

The fall of 1961-1962 found many of us going to an open field off of Lover's Lane to see if our own school had grown from the ground any more than a couple of days before. It was a trip that would be renewed often in the months to follow. Now it is forty years later and the excitement is still there for me in anticipation of what is to rise out of the ground for the next generations of Heath High students.

Now it is the fall of 2001 and I've watched a new football stadium shine brightly on Friday night, August 31. No hillside with blankets and lawn chairs filled with Bulldogs backers, but a wonderful stadium that should excite any Heath Alumni upon their visit. Although it still has more to be completed, you'll be overwhelmed on your next visit. You'll be so proud of Heath High.

Oh, the gravel parking lot that we could do donuts on is now fenced to protect the construction site of the NEW Heath High School, as the blocks go skyward just as they did forty years ago. The present day Bulldogs park in the new paved lot in front our school inside nicely painted lines.

Walk the halls of Heath High and see open ceilings in the hallways as remodeling goes on inside the original high school. There where things not finished in the fall of 1962, as there may be in 2002. Those open ceilings should help the present students anticipate what is to come for them in their future. Something new and shiny, a building to be proud, to announce that this is my school and we are the very best. And this will always be my school, HEATH HIGH SCHOOL.

But you say that things are changing. No, not really. Part of the high school we become integrated into the new building they'll call Heath High. A bright orange stadium is erected on our hillside, no more blankets and lawn chairs, but the hillsides will still echo the cheers and victory bell for our Bulldogs. New parking lots will be paved, but the students from those cars will be just as excited to arrive at Heath High as they were in 1962. Memories of our years at Heath are mostly the same as those who graduated in '63 or '73 or '83 or '93 or will be in '03.

*The fall of 2001-2002, will it find you returning to Licking View Drive to see new walls that connect our past with their future? WE ARE PROUD OF HEATH HIGH SCHOOL.

Building a Path for the Future a brick at a time is the challenge issued by the Heath Athletic Boosters. The boosters are selling paving bricks to be placed at the entry of the NEW Heath High for $35 each. Each brick may have three lines with 15 characters including spaces on each line. Contact Brenda Wells at 323-3117 or Mindy Sturm at 323-2483 or HHSAA for order forms; or look for forms at athletic events.
